

Energy dashboard

Advanced Telemetry LLC has released the EcoView, a real-time energy- and resource-monitoring control system for small commercial customers. Building owners can access up-to-the-minute reports on energy and water consumption through their monitor while simultaneously taking action to cut their building's carbon footprint and reduce utility bills. By following trends, tracking changes, and identifying key culprits of electricity drain, users can operate their building more energy- and cost-efficiently.
