Elaine Williamson Designs Launches LEEP Division

September 08, 2010

Dallas-based Elaine Williamson Designs announced the launch of its LEED AP accredited residential and commercial interior design division. The new division will be led by Joanna Jackson, ASID Allied member and a LEED accredited interior design professional for new construction, and building construction and design. Jackson will handle both new business development and client services, in addition to eco-conscious interior design and re-design projects. Kathleen Boykin, LEED team design coordinator, will also manage vendor and contractor relations. Elaine Williamson Designs is a full-service custom interior design firm for luxury residential and high rise properties, as well as retail, medical and other commercial markets.
