Combined, the 4 newly contracted home projects encompass nearly every residential space, including entry/foyer, office, bathroom, dining room, breakfast area, kitchen, sitting room, family room and formal living room. All 5 of Elaine Williamson Designs' newly contracted projects were driven by satisfied client referrals.

"Despite the economic downturn, 2010 has been a very busy year for our firm," said Elaine Williamson, principal of Elaine Williamson Designs. "This flurry of new residential and commercial contracts -- all referral based -- further validate that our highly customized, client-centric design methodology, distinctive style sensibility and work ethic is resonating within the local marketplace."

With burgeoning demand for "green design" solutions within the marketplace, Elaine Williamson Designs has also formerly launched its new LEED AP Accredited residential and commercial interior design division spearheaded by ASID Allied Member Joanna Jackson -- a degreed, LEED Accredited interior design professional for new construction as well as building construction and design.

As the division head, Joanna is charged with cultivating Elaine Williamson Designs' "green project portfolio" relative to both new business development and client services. In addition to driving residential and commercial client acquisition initiatives, Joanna and her team also execute contracted eco-conscious interior design and re-design projects from start to finish, including defining project scope, space planning and layout conceptualization, and furnishing and materials procurement. LEED Team design coordinator Kathleen Boykin also oversees related vendor and contractor relations.

"We always stay abreast of current and forecasted design and décor trends, with all things 'green' now leading the way," Williamson notes. "This new LEED design division best assures our clients that we have the knowledge, skill and expertise to plan and execute their environmentally conscious interior design project with a high degree of style and visual appeal."
