THE LUXE LIST:

BACK TO SCHOOL ESSENTIALS

College students notoriously struggle on multiple fronts. Often, they're relegated to whatever facilities their school offers. Vending machines, fuzzy TVs with limited channels, noisy dorm rooms and crowded study halls can leave much to be desired. Here are a few items to ease and appease college students as they study, live, work and play away from the cushy conveniences of home.

JABRA'S HALO SMART WIRELESS HEADPHONES

The Jabra Halo Smart wireless headphones were created in response to consumer demand for a multi-purpose headset specifically designed to support the many scenarios of a busy lifestyle. It's perfect for on-the-go students, teachers, business professionals and other consumers who want to seamlessly manage calls, music and media using one device but require optimal voice and call-quality. With a high-quality microphone, 10 millimeter speakers and extended battery life, the Halo Smart provides a best-in-class call experience, as well as a superior wireless music experience. Jabra Halo Smart allows users to accept a call by separating the two earbuds as they rest around the neck. One earbud can be used for phone calls, while both are beneficial for listening to music. The high-quality microphone includes integrated wind/noise protection for enhanced in-call quality. The device also features a dedicated Google Now/Siri button, and Android users can expect readouts of calendar notifications, emails, text messages and social media messages.

STEBCO TRAVELDESK

Now collegiate students can work in comfort from anywhere, whether out and about on campus, hanging out in the coffee shop or dorm lounge or waiting to catch a flight or train. The incredibly sturdy Stebco TravelDesk workstation from Overstock.com is a spacious case that's ideal for students seeking to stay organized and productive while on the go during their school day and during those trips back home. The Stebco TravelDesk 18-inch Upright Rolling Suitcase, which features durable polyester construction and a streamline flex carry handle, boasts a quick-access, retractable and adjustable mobile work desk that fits laptops up to 18 inches wide. This allows students to work from anywhere at any time. It also has a dedicated padded tablet pouch, and important papers can easily be found with the dual-front panel zippered pockets and the deluxe business organizer. This well-designed case includes two smooth, gliding wheels and stabilizing feet for a sturdy and agile mobile desk experience.

SLINGBOX M2

Even students living away in a dorm or in their own apartment can still enjoy the comforts of home – entertainment-wise, at least. Thanks to the Slingbox M2, students living away from home can still have uncompromised access to both live and recorded home TV content from anywhere in the world and on any personal device: computers, tablets and smartphones. Plus, this is without any monthly fees! With the Slingbox M2, no matter where they are, college students can keep up with their favorite hometown sports and TV shows live or on-demand by tapping into their parent's at-home cable subscription. The Slingbox M2 is compatible with Apple TV, Chromecast, FireTV and Roku, so college students can even watch their at-home content right from their dorm room or apartment TVs.

KUHFS

Fashion-minded college girls can effortlessly elevate the look of their boots, jeans and leggings with a smart invention called Kuhfs. This product was launched in 2014 by Amy Olson, a mother of two, out of her home in Chicago. Having searched the Internet and every retail shop for a unique product that would add style to her boots and complement her outfits, Amy decided to create a cuff that would seamlessly wrap around the top of her boots to spice up her look with a simple, yet fashionable, approach. This fashion fix is absolutely perfect for back-to-college, as they allow budget-sensitive students to wear their same favorite boots, capris and other fashions with a fresh, different look each time.
