TRAVEL TOOL ROUND UP

There is already enough stress involved in travel without having to worry about whether your phone is going to die on you, or worse, if you're accidentally going to break it with the slip of a hand or spill of a glass. Or perhaps your phone will be just fine, but did you remember all necessary cords and other chargers? With these handy (and affordable) tools, the stresses of traveling are sure to be eased.

Juicebar Multi-Device Pocket Solar Charger:

The days of seeing "low battery" alerts are gone. Using the sun's rays or indoor lighting, this tool is able to store 2000mAh of solar power, charging most devices at least two times over. Unlike other solar chargers that might require you to purchase adapters, the standard USB port allows you to use your own charging cable. www.juicebarsolarcharger.com

Power Station Traveler: Whether you're on the road, at home or at a hotel, you'll always have a way to charge your device. Used with an AC/DC power adapter indoors or your car's plug, you're able to securely charge as many as three portable devices at once. The case, which provides additional storage and comes with a padded hand strap and an adjustable and detachable shoulder strap, allows you to easily carry all devices and accessories. www.cableorganizer.com

Pelican Case: Use your smart phone or iPod while its being protected from moisture, dust, dirt and impact. Available in two models, the i1010 protects first or second-generation iPods, iPod nano and iPod shuffle, while the i1015 is equipped for the iPod touch, iPhone and other select smart phones. The stainless steel case is available in a variety of colors and comes with a lifetime guarantee. www.pelican.com

GRID-IT! Organizer: Forget about untangling cords or searching through your suitcase for separated items. This organizer features dozens of crisscrossing elastic bands, providing endless arrangements for holding your cables, digital devices, flash drives, hubs, mice and more. The flat design fits perfectly into a briefcase or laptop or travel case. www.cableorganizer.com
