The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the New York Post website. The browser's address bar shows the URL: https://nypost.com/2018/01/20/companies-are-paying-employees-to-stay-healthy/. The website's header features the 'NEW YORK POST' logo, navigation links for 'SECTIONS' and 'SEARCH', and a 'SIGN UP' button. Below the header, a 'LATEST IN BUSINESS' section displays several article thumbnails with titles such as 'Apple shares slip on report of iPhone X production cut', 'Feds due to make arrests in futures 'spoofing' probe', 'Keurig to buy Dr Pepper Snapple in $21B deal', 'This startup will change the way you think about dentistry', and ''Jackpotting' ATM attacks have come to America'. A large advertisement for 'W HOTELS' is prominently displayed, featuring a pink and black design with the text 'LOWEST RATES, FREE WI-FI & EARN FREE NIGHTS' and 'W Los Angeles – West Beverly Hills'. The main article, 'Companies are paying employees to stay healthy' by John Aidan Byrne, is the central focus, with a 'BUSINESS' category tag and social media sharing icons. To the right, a 'COLUMNISTS' section lists 'John Crudele' and 'Jonathon Trugman'. At the bottom, a search bar contains the text 'healthywage' and the Windows taskbar shows the time as 10:10 AM on 1/29/2018.
