

File Edit View History Bookmarks Tools Help

TECHNOLOGY & IMMIGRATION: x

chiefexecutive.net/technology-immigration-ceos-band-together-ensure-access-traditionally-diverse-workforce/

Home Advertising Chief Executive Magazine About

Google Custom Search Search

Chief Executive

The 2017 Smart Manufacturing Summit

May 15th -17th, 2017
Seattle, Washington

HOME CEO INSIGHTS AWARDS & RANKINGS NEWSLETTERS EVENTS & WEBINARS RESEARCH PEER NETWORKS

FEATURED EVENTS

5th Annual Smart Manufacturing Summit
May 16-17, 2017, Seattle, WA

3rd Annual CEO Talent Summit
October 25-26, 2017, Orlando, FL

Chief Executive Leadership Summit
November 2-3, 2017, Denver, CO

SUBSCRIBE TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

TECHNOLOGY & IMMIGRATION: CEOs Band Together to Ensure Access to Their Traditionally Diverse Workforce

For many CEOs, their future lies in the balance between finding the right talent here and being able to bring in experienced people from outside the U.S.

By: Dale Buss March 3, 2017

In late January, President Trump gave tech CEOs an issue that galvanized thousands of them to step up to oppose his ban on immigration from seven countries.

Tech outfits employ some of America's most diverse workforces, and chiefs worried about having access to capable immigrants, as well as a perceived threat to the inclusivity ethos that fuels their trade.

THE DAILY BEST OF THE WEB

Cybersecurity Experts are Populating American Boardrooms
April 24, 2017

Cement Giant CEO Resigns Amid Syria Funding Scandal
April 24, 2017

CEOs Applaud Trump's Anti-Inversion Rule Crackdown
April 24, 2017

Why Middle-Market Firms are so Confident about Growth this Year
April 21, 2017

Clock Watchers Beware: Study Indicates Time-Obsessed CEOs Could be Hurting their Staff
April 21, 2017

Archives

Start Chrome Firefox Internet Explorer

8:54 PM 4/24/2017